

TFOET

Tropical Further Offshore Emergency Training

The TFOET course is a refresher course for students who have previously conducted the BOSIET or TBOSIET training. The TFOET training is recognised in various regions around the world and includes cold water areas. The course is delivered to people who have had exposure to the oil and gas industry and a good level of knowledge is presumed.

The course runs for a period of 1 day and comprises of the following modules:

1. Fire extinguisher training

A combined theory and practical sessions where students re-visit different classes of fires, different types of extinguishers and conduct an interactive session where students will select the correct fire extinguisher and practice correct application techniques.

2. Smoke Escape

Following a short theory session students will be required to navigate through a smoke filled and darkened compartment practicing effective self rescue techniques whilst wearing a smoke escape hood.

3. Helicopter underwater escape training (HUET) & Sea survival

Students will partake in a short theory session where they will discuss helicopter emergencies and escape techniques. Following the theory is a practical session which has students will practice escape techniques in a variety of different scenarios including; surface evacuation, vertical submersion and capsized submersion.

This will be followed by a short sea survival session where students will demonstrate a variety of sea survival techniques.

Certification:

On successful completion of the course, participants will receive a numbered photo ID card, OPITO certificate and registration onto the OPITO database and a Statement of Attainment which identifies the nationally recognised competencies achieved.

Validity:

The TFOET is valid for 4 years; however, different companies may require employees to renew their training at more frequent intervals. To keep the ticket valid employees must return within the 4 year period and conduct another 1 day refresher course (FOET).

TFOET Medical Terms & Conditions:

Trainees undertaking TFOET Training are required to submit to a medical examination. There are 3 options available for trainees studying at AMI:

- Option 1 – Accepted Medicals:
 - Medicals aligned to the UKOOA/OGUK guidelines.
 - Aviation Authority Medicals (e.g. CASA, CAA).
 - Maritime Authority/Directorate Medicals (e.g. AMSA).
 - Commercial/Occupational dive medicals (e.g. AS/NZS 2299, UK HSE)
 - Pre-employment medicals completed within 90 days of course commencement.
 - the full pre-employment medical must be sent for approval.
- Option 2 – Trainees who believe themselves to be generally healthy with no underlying medical conditions, ailments or injuries. Also trainees that have undergone recent medical screening due to personal/work requirements (including on-site medicals) are given the option of undergoing a medical screening by AMI's on-site Registered Nurse. The cost of this is $90.00 per trainee, with the medical to be conducted before the first day of training. (Or day of for walk-ins)
- Option 3 – Trainees that do have underlying medical conditions or concerns. Also trainees that have not undergone a Medical examination in a considerable amount of time are advised to take an AMI Medical form to a GP to have signed off. This can incur a fee of up to $190.00 depending on the practice. This needs to be completed prior to training.

Trainees who decide to take Option 2 need to be aware that if for some reason, our On-Site RN cannot deem you fit for training; you are required to undertake further medical screening by a GP at the cost to yourself. You will not be able to undergo TFOET training until the Medical form is complete and signed off and AMI will have to reschedule your training.
